Power and productivity
for a better world™

This October 25th, Power & Automation Ireland will take place at Croke Park, Dublin. The event will bring the Power and Automation business together at one event for the first time in Ireland. To guarantee Ireland's future success as a knowledge-based economy, there must be a free and efficient flow of information across all sectors of society.

Power & Automation Ireland will address a wide range of industries and issues including reliability, energy efficiency and productivity. Through an extensive offering of over 30 seminars and guest speakers, Power & Automation Ireland will draw on the experts in industry to stimulate and educate managers, engineers, technicians and all those interested in these sectors.
